FOREWORD

Inscriptions are one of the basic source material for the study of history. They throw a flood of light on the spiritual and temporal aspects of a society and provide valuable information about the social and economic life of the period. The deciphering and classification of inscriptions engraved on the temple walls at Tirumala and Tirupati acquires much significance in this context. When the Devasthanams took up the formidable task of classifying and transcribing these inscriptions way back in the 20's it opened up a new chapter in the historical research on Tirumala Tirupati temples. Sri Sadhu Subrahmanya Sastry who was entrusted with deciphering and classifying them had done it with meticulous care

In the 'Report' Sri Subrahmanya Sastry has given a general survey of the inscriptions during the Pallava, Chola, Pandya and Vijayanagar periods besides incorporating some of the inscriptions during the period of the Mahants. It may be interesting to note that while the early inscriptions are recorded in Tamil script, the bulk of the inscriptions belonging to the Vijayanagar period are in Telugu and Kànnada.

The present reprint of the TTD Epigraphical series consisting of seven volumes, besides the Report will enable the readers to have a comprehensive knowledge about the sacred temples at Tirumala and Tirupati and their growth and development through centuries. We have great pleasure in bringing out the reprints of the Inscriptions which had been out of print for several years, for the benefit of the discerning public

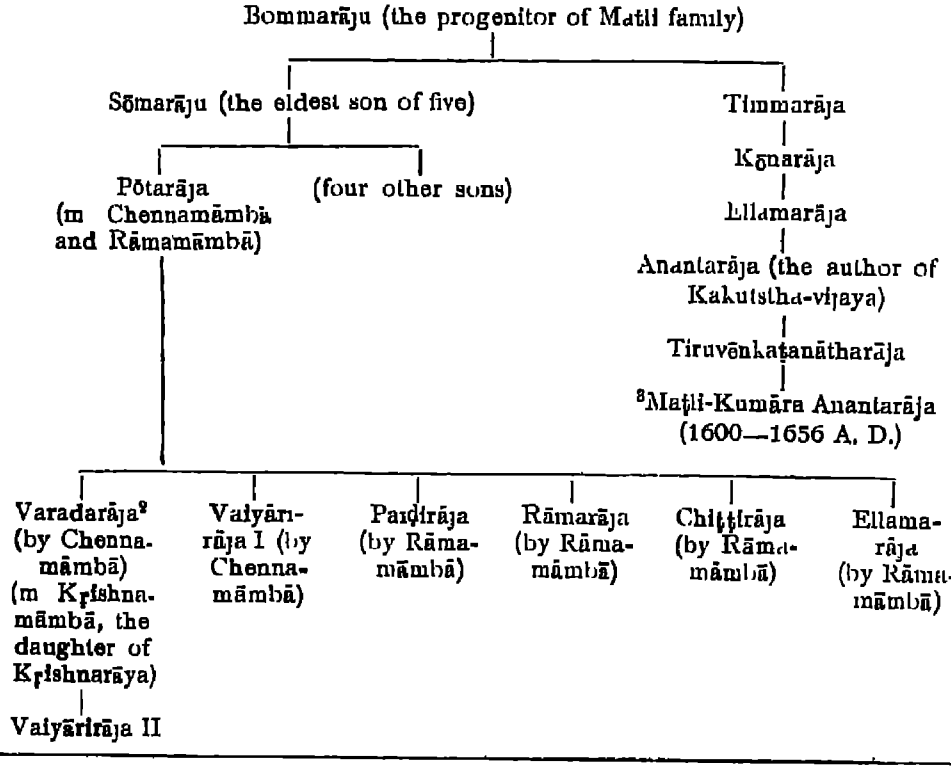
[The genealogy of Maṭli chiefs[1] of Solar race.]



NOTE 1:—The Maṭli chiefs belonged to the Dēva-chōḍa family of the Solar race and were therefore different from the ancient Pottapi-Chōlas and Uraiyūr-Chōlas though these were also of the Solar race.

NOTE 2:—The two sons-in-laws of Kṛishṇarāya, viz., Āravīdu Aḷiyarāmarāja and Maṭli Varadarāja, had not made their appearance in the reign of Kṛishṇarāya himself or in that of his successor Achyutarāya, but only in the succeeding reign of Sadāśivarāya when the influence and power of the two brothers, the elder and younger Salakarāja Timmarājas, had been undermined.

NOTE 3.—Maṭli, a village in the Rāyachoti taluk of Cuddapah district, lent itself as the family name of these chiefs of the Dēva-chōḍa lineage. Anantarājapuram or Anantarājapēṭa near Rājampet in Cuddapah district was the capital of these chiefs.

In 1628 A. D this Maṭli Kumāra Anantarāja constructed Gāli gōpuram, Kotta-gōpuram, Alipiri ruined gōpuram, and Tirupati Sannidhi street gōpuram Besides these towers he constructed a maṇṭapam at Alipiri in Tirupati, and presented elephant-vehicle, horse-vehicle and war-chariot (Samarabhūpāla-vāhana) and gem-set crown for Śrī Vēṅkaṭēśa. He destroyed the enemies at Pālagiri, Animāla, Pilēru and other places For further reference vide No. 24 of Vol. VI. of Tirupati Dēvasthanam Inscriptions.

NOTE 1 —Manamapōli or Manambōli was assumed by these chiefs from their residence at or rule over Manambōlu, the modern town of Manambōlu, near Gudur in the Nellore District.

NOTE 2 —From the identity of the names it is likely that Manamapōli Ōbaḷurāja and his son Śrīrangarāja, were the same as the two chiefs of the Kuruchēḍu family, viz., Ōbaḷarāja and his son Śrīrangarāja, (noticed in Ar. Sur. Rep for 1908-09, on page 196) the later of whom is reported to have been a Śrīvaishnava feudatory of Sadāsivarāya and to have made a gift of a garden to the shrine of Tirumangai-Āḷvār at Hampe in 1560 A. D.

NOTE 3 —He made a gift of half the village of Raṇapākkam for certain offerings to be made for Śrī Vēnkaṭēśa.

NOTE 4 .—On 8-6-1547 A. D. he started Vasantōtsavam (spring festival) for Śrī Vēnkaṭēśa to be celebrated for five days and granted three villages for the benefit of the temple at Tirumalai. [For further reference, vide respective names in Section III]

[3]Appayya Dīkshita (1550—1613 A.D.) ⋮ Śivānanda Yatīndra
Āchchān Dīkshita II
Nārāyaṇa Dīkshitar (m. Bhūmādevi)
[4]Nīlakaṇṭha Dīkshita — Gīrvāṇendra
Ayyā Dīkshitar
(three other sons)

NOTE 1 :—He was popularly known as Vakshasthalāchārya Dīkshita. The story as to how he acquired that curious name is interesting. Kṛishṇadēvarāya, the great king of Vijayanagara (1509—1530 A D) paid a visit to Conjeevaram. While he was worshipping the God Varadarāja in company with his queen and retinue, Āchārya Dīkshita composed the following Ślōka :—

" कांचित्काञ्चनगौरांगीं वीक्ष्य साक्षादिव श्रियम् । वरदः संशयापन्नो वक्षःस्थलमवैक्षत ॥ "

'Beholding a woman of gold-like complexion looking like Lakshmī herself, God Varada fell into a doubt and looked at his bosom (to see if Lakshmī was there).' The God mistook the women for Lakshmī and suspected that His consort Lakshmī had quitted Her seat in His bosom and looked at His bosom to make sure whether she was there. The idea was extremely happy and Kṛishṇadēvarāya was so enamoured of it that he thenceforward called him Vakshasthalāchārya Dīkshita.

NOTE 2 :—He followed in the foot steps of his father and a led a thoroughly Vaidīka life. He has made valuable contributions to the Vēdānta literature. He was the author of Advaita Vidyā-Mukura, Vivaraṇa-Darpaṇa and other works.

NOTE 3 :—His valuable (104) Sanskṛit works are preserved in all the Libraries throughout the world. [Vide, Section II.]

NOTE 4 :—He was also the author of Gaṅgāvataraṇa, Śivalīlārṇava etc. [For further works, vide, Section II]

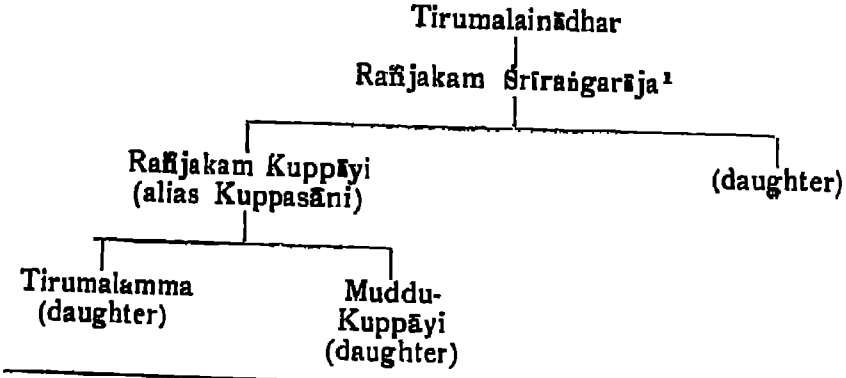
[The genealogy of Kuppāyi and Muddukuppāyi.]



NOTE 1 :—As we had occasion to note the existence of a Nāṭakaśālā attached to the Palace of Sāḷuva Narasiṁha, so we here find the existence of a Nṛittaśālā attached to the Court of Kṛishṇarāya, besides a similar Nāṭyasālā by means of which he probably had his own Sanskṛit drama "Jāmbavati Kalyāṇa" enacted during the Chaitra festival of God Vīrūpāksha at Vijayanagara. Our ancient kings had resorted to both the pastimes Nṛitya and Nāṭaka quite frequently, just they had often called for an assemblage of poets and philosophers whom they patronised. Kṛishṇarāya was the president of the council of the learned men (Vidvatsabhārāya) and the troupe of dancers delighted him with their dancing and music. The master of this troupe was this Śrīraṅgarāja, son of Tirumalaināthar. [For further reference vide, Dēv Epi. Report, P. 205.]

Sadāśivarāya Mahārāyai [For the genealogy of this emperor Sadāśivarāya Mahārāya, Vide Table No. 32 in section 1 of this Volume.]

Though Sadāśivarāya Mahārāya administered the empire apparently as a co-regent with Achyutarāya, his position on the Vijayanagara throne appears to have been shaken immediately on the death of Achyutarāya, through the attempted usurpation by Salaka Timmarāja, one of the two brothers-in-law of Achyutarāya, and the ensuing civil war which continued for over a year Along with his two younger brothers Tirumalarāya and Vēnkaṭādri, Aḷiya-Rāmarāya is said to have taken up the cause of his brother-in law Śadaśivarāys, vanquished the usurper Salaka Timma and then installed Sadāśivarāya on the throne of Vijayanagara in Śaka 1465.

The happy news of this enthronement of Sadāśiva evoked a gift of a village on 19th April, 1543 A. D, from the king's agent Daḷavāy Kṛishṇappa-Nāyakka, son of Daḷavāy Chennappa-Nāyaka in gratitude for the fulfilment of his prayer that the king's accession to the throne of Vijayanagara must be a permanent one. Similar gratitude is also found expressed by Tāmalappa-Nāyaka in his grant of his village made on the 6th August 1543 A. D.

Sadaśivarāya's first visit to the temple at Tirumalai is registered in No. 150 of Vol. V, dated 3rd February 1554 A. D. His second visit is mentioned to have taken place on the auspicious occasion of the Makara-Sankramam which occurred on the 28th December 1553 A D. It is recorded that Sadāśivarāya Mahārāya then granted with libations of water, as a sarvamānya gift, the taxes uḷḷāyam, pōrāyam etc, from the various provinces of his kingdom for the benefit of Tirupati Nammāḷvār-Rāmānujakūṭam built by Āravīdu Koṇḍarāja, son of Rāmarāja Kōnāṭirāja. Yagñya-Nārāyaṇa-Bhaṭṭar or Yagñya-Nārāyaṇa-Dīkshitar, the son of Raṅganādha-Bhaṭṭar or Raṅgā-Dīkshitar of Jāmadagñya-Vatsa-gōtra, Āśvalāyana-sūtra and the performer of different sacrifices, (i. e., Sarvakratu-Vājapēya and Sarvatōmukha) and the Court-Purōhita of Śrī Vīra Kṛishṇarāya Mahārāya deposited a sum of 10,000 naṟ-paṇam as capital into the temple-treasury of Śrīnivāsa for the purpose of offering 8 tiruppōnaka-taḷigai each day to Śrī Vēnkaṭēśa at Tirumalai as his ubhaiyam on the occasion of Kṛishṇadēvarāya's fourth visit to Tirumalai temple on 6th July 1514 A. D as he too accompanied the king to the temple at Tirumalai, dated 10th July 1514 A. D. [Vide No. 89 of Vol. III].

On 9th March 1522 A. D., a sum of 1,850 paṇam was deposited by this Yagñya-Nārāyaṇa Dīkshitar into the temple-treasury at Tirumalai as capital for the purpose of offering 37 atirasa-paḍi yearly on the 13 days of the star Punarvasu, being the monthly birth-star of his father Raṅganādha-Dīkshitar, on the days of Māsa-Saṅkramaṇam festival (i. e., every first day of each month) and on the days of 12 new-moon days (called Paurṇimā festival) in the temple at Tirumalai as his service. [Vide No. 152 of Vol. III]

Yallamman, the daughter of Kōvai.....made a contribution of 440 paṇam for 60 Dhanurmāsa-pūjā offerings to be presented to Lord Śrī Vēnkaṭēśa at Tirumalai and Śrī Gōvindarājan in Tirupati as her ubhaiyam. Arrangements were also made for the purpose of presenting 2 atirasa-paḍi to Flag Garuḍāḷvān during Vaikāśi-Brahmōtsavam and Āni-Brahmōtsavam, celebrated for Śrī Gōvindarājan in Tirupati. [Vide No. 117 of Vol. IV, dated 25th December 1538 A. D.]

Yatirāja-Jīyar (I ?), the manager of Malaikkiniyaninṟān flower-garden at Tirumalai deposited a sum of 600 panam into the temple-treasury at Tirumalai for the purpose of propitiating Śrī Vēṅkaṭēśa with certain offerings on the 3rd festival day of Adhyayanōtsavam, celebrated in the temple at Tirumalai as his ubhaiyam. [Vide No. 107 of Vol. II, dated 21st August 1493 A D.]

Yatirāja-Jīyar, (II ?) (known as Periya-Kōyil-kāḷvi Yatirāja Jīyar), the manager of Pāraruḷāḷan flower-garden at Tirumalai and the disciple of Aḷagiya Manavāḷa Jīyar deposited a sum of 1000 paṇam as capital for certain offerings to be offered in the maṇṭapam (Hunting-festival maṇṭapam at Tirumalai constructed at his own cost) on all the 7th festival days during Tirumalai-Brahmōtsavam as his ubhaiyam. Provision was also made for certain offerings to be presented to Śrī Gōvindarājan, His consorts, Śrī Rāmānuja and other Gods on the prescribed days as his kaiṅkaryam on 19th June 1535 A. D. [Vide No. 45 of Vol. IV.]

On 14th October 1540 A D. he made certain charities to be conducted for Śrī Gōvindarājan, Śrī Gōdādēvī or Āṇḍāḷ, Śrī Rāma and other Gods in Tirupati on the prescribed days as his ubhaiyam. [Vide No. 151 of Vol. IV]

Again, he deposited a sum of 820 paṇam as capital for certain offerings to be presented to Śrī Vēṅkaṭēśa in his garden-maṇṭapam on the day of Vidāyāṟṟi festival during Āni-Brahmōtsavam at Tirumalai on 21st June 1541 A. D. [Vide No. 163 of Vol. IV.]

Yatirājayyan was one of the disciples of the famous Aḷagiya-Maṇavāḷa Jīyar of Kāñchī. He constructed a maṇṭapam on the bank of Svāmi-pushkariṇī at Tirumalai and made provision for certain offerings to be presented in the above-said maṇṭapam on the day of Hunting festival at Tirumalai and in the Tirumāmaṇi-maṇṭapam (front-maṇṭapam, near the golden-gate in the temple at Tirumalai) on the day of Śravaṇam festival as his ubhaiyam.
